I have decided that it will be a series of books, and for my project, I will be writing book one.

The size of the pages will be 8.5' x 5.5' and each page will have its page number.

The type of book will be an i-Book.

Design:

For my design, I have two main thoughts. The first is much harder to make. The front cover would be from the shoulders to knees of someone (idea of my brother) facing the other direction with a gun in their hand and the desert all around. The back of the book is just a clear shot of the desert and the blurb. The second is much simpler. A black background with "Antonio: Book One Lee Michele Palmer" in red, and a red silk tie going down the middle of the page. The back of the book is just black with the blurb.

I have decided to go with design 2, as it would improve my design skills and would be more cost effective and I wouldn't need anyone or to buy anything.
